

Many of the potential World and European team members at both SA and U23 level are traveling to race at Essen regatta in Germany over the next weekend.

This will be the first race for many of the newly formed crews following the winter test series and the racing at Racice in April.

Some athletes will race in different combinations and boat classes for the Saturday and Sunday races and, as is normal for the first races of the season, I am looking for some good progress over the two days of racing.

Following essen Regatta, the next races for the SA group will be at World Cup 1 in Belgrade and for the U23 athletes, Ratzeburg regatta, both regattas are at the same time over the first weekend of June.

The Athletes selected for Essen regatta are:
